signs of the time

BHS, a tiny spoke in the giant wheel of society, exhibits perpetual change.

On an international basis, countries are reaching out and bridging gaps. In a personal way, young people are reaching out, through love, to create understanding and to build relationships.

State primaries, campaign speeches and national conventions signal a presidential election year. Most seniors at BHS have the privilege of voting in this election because of Michigan's new age of majority.

Realizing that agents of pollution are destroying natural resources and endangering public health, society has turned to ecology. Students participate in this movement through Conservation classes and school-yard clean-up.

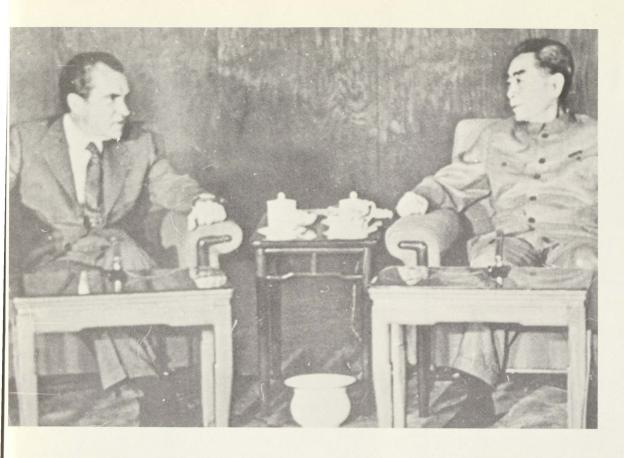

Styles of clothing now worn and liberties taken in dressing are ways of expressing self and are a part of the new freedom. Being yourself and displaying your talents — doing your thing — play key roles. Blue jeans, music from hard rock to classical, the Jesus Movement, awareness and interest in astrology, displaying peace symbols and openness in drug use are part of the youth culture.

Charlie Brown's persistence parallels the "stick-to-it-tiveness" of a number of students. "You gotta wanna" pins and "Right on Bearcat" shirts are proof of those who are attempting to spark spirit and bring about change.

These signs last only as long as the time. For as time expands, the signs will change.

Homecoming activities follow tradition

Many special feelings emerged through preparation and events of Homecoming. Nominations for the court, accompanied by the election of class attendants, created excitement which intensified the announcement of the five semi-finalists.

Final tensions climaxed during the impressive assembly on October 13 when Rita Watz was named the 1971 Homecoming Queen. Traditional bon-fire ignited pep and spirit for the following night's clash against conference opponent, Mt. Pleasant.

Pride of the large homecoming football crowd was evident even as the huge Oiler squad slicked past the Bearcats. "On the Threshold of a Dream," this year's homecoming theme, set the mood of the annual post-game dance.

Wonderful world of fantasy ignites school spirit

Pep Club, with concentrated efforts of boosting the teams, generated sparks of pep, spirit and pride.

Two Spirit Weeks, one during football season and one during basketball season, were designed to create competition between the classes and to increase spirit and pride in the Bearcats. For first time, a snow carnival accompanied the basketball Spirit Week. During the carnival, each class molded snow sculptures and a prince, princess and court were elected to reign over the bonfire and the "Fantasy Ball."

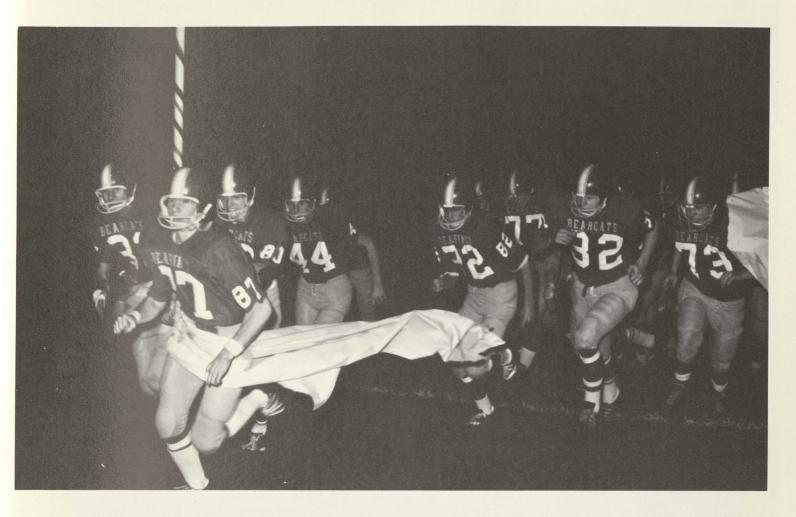

Pep Club and their adviser, Mr. Paul Wilson, sold pins bearing the slogan, "You Gotta Wanna" and "Right on Bearcats" shirts throughout the year.

Ya gotta wanna Ya gotta wanna

"BHS is the best!" Pride, undying faith, enthusiasm, out-going personalities, physical coordination and smiling faces constitute qualities possessed by cheerleaders. Squads fired up teams and student body through pep assemblies, away-game buses and hall signs.

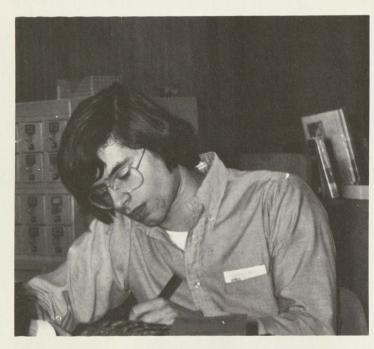

Homecoming brought familiar sights as Varsity Cheerleaders combined with JV squad in arousing spirit for the game and the selling of beautiful gold mums. Sale of pom-poms further promoted school spirit.

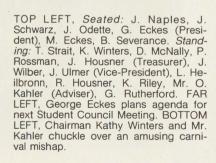

Cheerleaders, advised by Mrs. Ruth Redmond and Mrs. Marjory Shelley, planned the fall and spring sports banquets to honor team efforts, the coaches and individual players.

16 student council

George Eckes heads student council

Student Council, a link between student body and administration, functioned to provide services for fellow students.

Planning and behind the scene preparations for all phases of Carnival USA and homecoming activities, including assembly, bonfire, street dance and half-time parade were major responsibilities.

As an integral part of new grievance procedures, Council supported individuals and groups with valid grievances.

Other activities Council sponsored were a post-football-game dance, Sadie Hawkins week, intramural basketball and a freshman-sophomore assembly featuring the musical group, "Freeway." Advised by Mr. Otto Kahler, the BHS representative organization was a member of White Pine Council. This council, composed of WPC student governments, organized Minor Sports Competition and student exchanges.

ERA and Scroll staffs produce publications

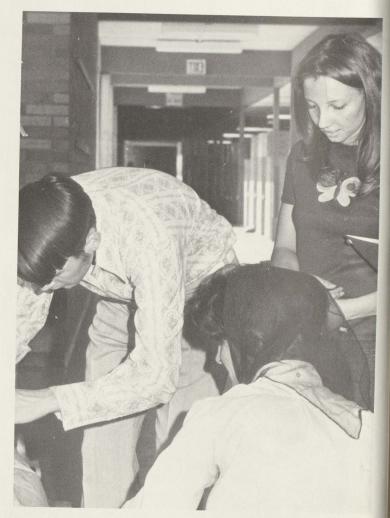

"Era" and "Scroll" staffs employed journalistic skills in capturing the unique character of Bridgeport High.

Yearbook related in words and pictures 1971-72 story of BHS. Becki Hendrickson functioned as Editor-in-Chief, under advisement of Mrs. Dorothy Fordyce.

Newspaper staff published a biweekly paper, reporting current news, events, sports results, editorials and feature articles. Adviser for 1972 Scroll was Mr. Gerald Brasseur.

Unique, moving drama chosen by new director

"David and Lisa" is the sensitive, fascinating story of two mentally disturbed adolescents: an overly-protected, wealthy, young boy, deathly afraid of being touched and a young, homeless, unloved girl with a split personality.

David and Lisa, along with the other mentally disturbed young people have come to Berkly School to receive the individual attention each needs from its professional staff of psychiatrists and therapists. Both David and Lisa secure the trust and friendship of each other, enabling them to overcome their handicaps.

Because of the number and frequency of scene changes in "David and Lisa," a new type of set for the stage was required. It was constructed as a large, revolving turntable containing three different sets.

This BHS production was directed by Mrs. Ruth Redmond and performed on the evenings of November 18, 19, 20.

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's Superman

Comic book character, Superman, Lois Lane, Clark Kent, Max Menchen and Sydney came to life when the music department, on February 17, 18, and 19, presented the musical, "It's a Bird, It's a Plane, It's Superman."

Fighting crime, doing good and rescuing Lois Lane from danger occupies most of Superman's time. Meanwhile the sinister characters, Dr. Abner Sedgewick and Max Menchen plot together to destroy Superman, the world's symbol of goodness. But with "pows," "bams" and "zonks," Superman escapes from the evil Sedgewick and his accomplices to restore goodness.

In next two conference battles, Buena Vista Knights charged past BHS and Douglas MacArthur Generals were in full command. Coming on strong in fourth quarter, Bridgeport cagers dumped St. Peter and Paul again. Bearcats, coached by Mr. James Brussow, put it together and downed Eisenhower a second time.

Don Wolf, conference champ, leads grapplers

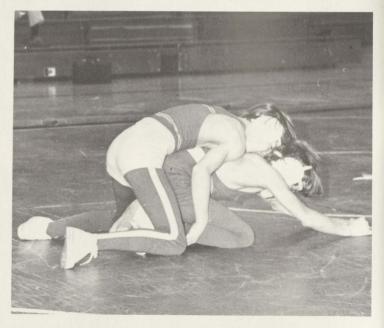

Strength, dexterity and skill are required of wrestlers to outlast and outmaneuver the challenger. BHS wrestlers proved their strength over Saginaw High Trojans in opening match but failed to suppress the next four opposing teams.

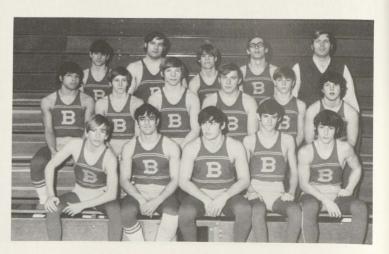

Buena Vista was an equal match in the initial contest with the Bearcats, but gained the upper hand in a second confrontation. Bridgeport's grapplers successfully rolled over Eisenhower and later in the season conquered them again.

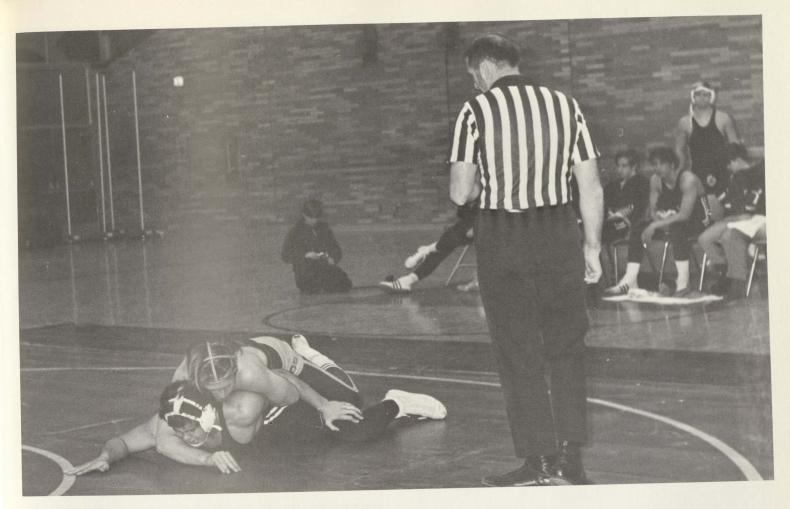

Bearcat wrestling team convincingly overwhelmed Birch Run's Panthers in two contests. Mr. William Peterson and Mr. Paul Wilson coached Bearcats to a final season record of 5-11-1 and a fourth place finish in the Conference Match.

Seniors choose officers for final year

Seniors were faced with decisions on future plans as they experienced final year of high school.

"Threshold of a Dream" was the theme seniors chose for homecoming. Profits from homecoming dance, participation in WSAM radio station's Community Club Awards Contest, a magazine sale and Carnival USA enabled seniors to meet financial needs.

Year climaxed for the 313 seniors and their advisers, Mr. Robert Hanley and Mr. Michael Ranieri, in year-end ceremonies. Excitement over prom, senior banquet and baccalaureate culminated on June 8, 1972, at Commencement.

Preparation, flowers and dinner reservations added to the over-all happiness of the occasion.

After-Prom, held following evening at the YMCA, proceeded at a faster pace, as formal wear gave way to familiar, casual dress and "The Loop" furnished pulsating music. Seniors also relaxed and enjoyed recreational facilities offered at the Y.

Being the yearbook editor is:

Coming up with the world's greatest ide and then finding with disappointment the somebody has tried that brainstorm alread and that it didn't work.

Becoming petrified on first day of school because I've just learned that all of the othekids on the staff are members of the Nation Honor Society and remembering that I didneven made the silver honor roll.

Being asked thirty questions and producir only ten good answers.

Noting, with a sense of horror, that at lea 1,300 people expect an A-Plus yearbook, an knowing that even if we gave them one, the wouldn't be satisfied.

Being given coveted authority and not know ing what to do with it, and wondering what the adviser could possibly have been thinling when she named me editor-in-chief.

Having to be creative when creativity is the farthest thing from my mind.

Taking a positive attitude when all developments are negative.

Hoping that I've done everything right, an hoping that I've done everything.

Occasionally, wanting to give up because everyone else has, and knowing I can't possibility give up, for that same reason.
